

Radio Remains Reliable to Build Your Business

There's a reason many advertisers are no longer using Facebook

Large influential companies are pulling advertising from social media to avoid being associated with hate speech, posts that incite violence, and misinformation.

- Advertisements for more than 400 brands have vanished from Facebook.
- “It’s simply not moving” – said one advertiser over Facebook’s steps to block hate speech.

With radio as your trusted marketing partner, this is something that you don’t need to worry about. Local radio has always been about the inclusion of everyone. For our local advertisers, you too have a way of getting away from social media.

Radio has and always will be your voice.

Learn more about the massive Facebook boycott here

Radio includes everyone: It’s the only media that has worked for over 100 years – it will always be the most inclusive of all media.

Let’s put radio back to work for your business!

